Safety and Security

The safety of your home is a big concern for many pet owners considering a pet door. Pet Door Products addresses safety with our secure interior locking system and optional pet door cover that will make your pet door opening even more secure than a locked window. The thought of another animal entering your home may also be a concern, rest assured that this is a rare occurrence because smaller animals like rodents or insects are unable to push through the flap. Larger animals that are unfamiliar with the pet door will not push through the flap because it appears solid with no gaps or creases around the edges.

The frigid temperatures of winter and triple-digit heat of the summer months can be dangerous and, in some cases, even deadly for pets. With a pet door, pet owners who work during the day can leave in the morning knowing that their pet will have access to the warmth or cool temperatures inside and still be able to go outside when they need to. The magnetic flap will save energy consumption year-round with minimal exposure to the cold or heat outdoors.
