It's the Season to Ask Yourself: Why I Am Thankful for My Dog?

In this season of Thanksgiving, things are moving fast in preparation for the holidays. In busy workplaces and bustling shopping malls, people are rushing to complete tasks before the big celebrations. In all the excitement, we're, of course, encouraged to take time to think about what we're thankful for. As we're reflecting, many of us are thinking of our dogs, our furry little companions that give us so much joy.

What are the Reasons We're Thankful for Dogs?

---

Dogs bring so many wonderful things to our lives. They enrich our daily experience, lend additional purpose to our lives, expand our family, entertain us, and give us unconditional love. Dogs just make life much better. Here are some great reasons for us all to be thankful for our pet dogs during the holiday season and throughout the year:

1. Dogs are excellent companions.

Having a dog means you always have a pal waiting for you at home.

2. Dogs are always thrilled to see you.

Your dog will never look too preoccupied to spend time with you.

3. Dogs can always lift your spirits.

Even during the most difficult times, dogs have a way of making you smile and feel better.

4. Dogs don't judge us.

When you are your least favorite version of yourself, your dog still adores you.

5. Dogs give us truly unconditional love.

You know that your dog will always love you and never waiver from that.

6. Dogs are perfect walking partners.

There's never a need to wonder if your dog will show up for your planned walk.

7. Dogs are naturally consoling.

A dog seems to know when you need a friend and they're there every time.

8. Dogs are always confident in you and themselves.

Big dogs and little dogs are happy with themselves and think you're the world's greatest human.

9. Dogs are happy to be anywhere with us.

Your dog will willingly endure any circumstance as long as you're there.

10. Dogs are hilarious.

Think of a human friend who is funny and multiply it 10 times to see how funny your dog is.

11. Dogs are always positive.

Even in the worst circumstances, dogs keep their enthusiasm for you.

12. Dogs relieve stress.

Few people or things or activities can beat the soothing effects of hanging out with your dog.

13. Dogs are the perfect listeners.

A dog never leaves to take a phone call while you're pouring out your deep thoughts.

14. Dogs are the world's best road trip buddies.

Your dog loves riding in the car and finds every minute of being on the road with you fascinating.

Give Your Dog the Best Gift of All?

For dogs, the outdoors is where the action is. So, a dog door means everything to a dog. This holiday season, give your furry best friend the gift of freedom with his or her own special door to come and go in and out to his heart's content.

Having a dog door also means a great new measure of freedom for you too. You'll no longer have to serve as the door attendant for your dog, getting up and running to the door multiple times every day to let your dog out and back in.
