How to Choose the Right Dog Door for Extreme Climates

Living in Utah's extreme climate, choosing the right dog door for your sliding door is vital for your pet's comfort and safety. This guide will equip you with knowledge on selecting the perfect dog door sized for your pet and your home's condition.

Understanding Your Climate

The Climate of Utah

Utah's climate swings between hot summers and cold winters. A dog door for slider use should be chosen with the consideration of these weather changes.

Factors to Consider When Choosing a Dog Door

Insulation and Energy Efficiency

A door with a dog door for extreme climates should offer excellent insulation to help keep your home's temperature stable.

Size and Fit

The size of your dog door should be appropriate for your pet. An ill-fitting door can expose your home to unnecessary temperature changes.
